A Swanton woman was drowned in an effort to save her pug dog. Whew!

The desire of the prisoner Ketchum to be transferred from the Chittenden county jail to the Addison county repository is now evident. Ketchum must have enjoyed some good hearty laughs, if all the stories told are true.

Surely it's straining a point when the state news of a prominent Vermont daily refers to the illness of "Maude Adams, the popular actress, well known to Vermont play-goers." Why not ring in every star that ever trouped the state? There are mighty few of them that haven't.—Vergennes Enterprise.

We are sorry to see that the bad example set by Brattleboro is "ketchin."

The contention that students of schools and colleges cannot be athletes and scholars at the same time is knocked away by the statement of Principal Sawyer of Williston seminary in Massachusetts. Speaking of this year's base ball team which won fifteen out of seventeen games he says: "This team is composed largely of seniors, seven of the 12 being from that class. There are mature and serious fellows. Moreover, they are men of good mental ability, and have been leaders in the school. One has been president of the school; another president of the Young Men's Christian Association; two presidents of literary societies; one editor-in-chief of the school paper and three others his associates in that work; three have been prize winners in mathematics, English, declamation or debate; six have won honors for high scholarship. Of the five under class men, one is president of the Young Men's Christian Association, one is a prize winner in English, one has won honors for high scholarship; all hold rank well above grade."

WHO IS IT?

Anna M. Batchelder, the young woman of White River Junction who sprang into prominence in the newspaper firmament through her interview with Mary Rogers which was printed in a Boston newspaper, comes out with a defense of herself and more especially a defense of her brother, State's Attorney Charles Batchelder. The article was a letter to the Burlington Free Press. Miss Batchelder's defense complicates the matter still more, for she states positively that she told Superintendent Lovell of the prison what she wanted to see Mrs. Rogers for. She says: "Both Superintendent Lovell and Sheriff Peck knew that I was a newspaper reporter when I asked permission to go to the state's prison and interview Mrs. Rogers." I explained to them in detail just what I wanted to get, and for what purpose, and after quite a delay I obtained permission from Superintendent Lovell to see Mrs. Rogers." Continuing she says: "My work was fully discussed with me by them (Lovell and Peck); before I went to Windsor to see Mrs.
Rogers and during my stay there." Now, there's a statement that is positive. On the other hand, however, is the equally positive assertion of Superintendent Lovell that he did not know that the woman was a newspaper representative when she asked permission to enter the condemned woman's cell and that it was not until part way through the interview that he realized by the nature of her questioning of Mrs. Rogers what her mission was.
Supt. Lovell further states that the fact that Miss Batchelder accompanied her brother, the state's attorney, was the reason for her being admitted. On this latter point Miss Batchelder also differs most emphatically from the superintendent for she declares that she did not know her brother was to accompany her to the cell until she was told by Superintendent Lovell himself; in fact, she didn't know her brother was in Windsor. We are forced to believe that someone is wrong, and that someone is making a bungling mess in an endeavor to get out of a delicate situation. Who is it?

JINGLES AND JESTS.

THAT NEW HAT.

The picture of innocence! That's how she looked.
But there was a price on her head.

Reduced from $5," is said.

A Lack of Perception.

IMPORTING ALIEN LABORERS.

Charge Against Enosburg Falls Rural Mail Carrier.

Burlington, June 20.—Deputy Marshal Thomas Reeves went to Enosburg Falls yesterday and arrested Amel S.
Armstrong on the charge of importing alien laborers into this country. Armstrong was indicted at the May term of the federal courts at Windsor at the same time Charles Burleson and another man were indicted on similar charges.
Armstrong is a rural free delivery carrier and owns a farm in Canada. The specific charge against him is bringing six Russians into Vermont to do farm work, all of them being immigrants who had no right to be in this country. Mr.
Armstrong denies having anything to do with such a transaction.

When he was brought to Burlington he was taken before George E. Johnson, clerk of the United States courts, where he furnished bail in the sum of $750 which was fixed in the indictment.

CONFERENCE ON SANTA FE CASE

Moody Sees President, Although He Says Nothing.

Washington, June 20.—A conference was held at the White House yesterday between the president and Attorney General Moody with respect to the policy to be pursued in the Santa Fe case, with which Secretary Morton is connected. At the conclusion of the conference, which lasted more than an hour, Mr. Moody said he was not in position yet to discuss the matter. He went over with the president the correspondence which has passed between himself and Messrs. Harmon and Judson, the special counsel appointed to investigate the case and which will be made public in the near future. The president has agreed with the attorney general as to the publication of the details of the correspondence and it is expected that he will supplement, in an official announcement, the statements made in the letters which have passed between Messrs. Harmon and Judson and the department of justice.

Mrs. Jerusha Dwinell was in receipt recently of a letter from her son, the Rev. O. T. Dwinell of Pierre, Ill., stating that on a certain Sunday morning he delivered a very strong temperance sermon. On the following evening, while he and his family were at the church service, someone more or less affected by his morning's talk, broke into and entered his house, emptying the contents of bureau-drawers, together with treasures and valuables and piling all up in confusion upon the floors. At this writing nothing has been missed from the house. Rev. Dwinell placed the matter in the hands of the police and detectives.

Nearly Ended.

Co.'s icehouses were struck by lightning Sunday night and destroyed, melting 200,000 tons of ice. The house of the superintendent, the barns and the boarding-house of fifty rooms were also destroyed. The loss is $325,000. Each of the great icehouses was protected by a houses on fire at once and the water tanks were useless.
